WOMEN LAY PLANS FOR CARRYING ON ACTIVE CAMPAIGN FOR AMENDMENT

After a Long Debate the National Convention of Suffs Adopts a Mode of Procedure in the Fight for Ballot.

WASHINGTON LOBBY TO BE MAINTAINED

A Million Dollar Fund Is To Be Raised to Help in the Warfare for Equal Suffrage; Use Steam Roller.

ST. MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE
Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 7.—After a long debate which carried the afternoon session of the convention well into the evening, the National American Woman Suffrage association today adopted a platform outlining its plan for the campaign for securing the submission of the federal suffrage amendment to the state legislatures for ratification.

It was decided that the next annual convention in 1917 be held in March or "thereabouts," that a lobby be continued at Washington, and that the association conduct a nationwide campaign of education, agitation, organization and publicity in support of the federal amendment. A million dollar campaign fund is to be raised between October this year, and October, 1917.

Places Restrictions.

It was further agreed by the convention that no state association shall ask the legislature of its state for the submission of an amendment or referendum to the people until the national board or executive council of the association shall have been given the opportunity to investigate conditions and give consent. Any state organization which proceeds to such state campaign without consent is to be prepared to finance and conduct its own campaign without help from the national body. Other steps also are to be taken to standardize and harmonize the woman suffrage movement.

The convention got into a tangle over the method of considering the platform, many parliamentarians moving to postpone immediate consideration, or to have the numerous items in it taken up serially. Discussions were made that a steam roller was being used to put the platform through the convention, but in the end it was adopted without amendment.

Another Debate.

Then followed another debate on the resolution of President Carrie Chapman Catt, presented yesterday, which interprets the constitution to mean that the submission of the fed-east amendment is the immediate and principal object of the association, and that all state work is merely preparatory to that end. When the resolution came before the convention Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, former president, endeavored to have consideration postponed until tomorrow morning. There was opposition and the delegates plunged into a discussion of the resolution.

Some delegates said the resolution was not worth the paper it was written on as it could not change the scope of the association's constitution, and others felt it violated the action of the convention yesterday, when it was decided that the convention should work for both federal and state suffrage legislation. Finally, many of the delegates became weary of the long session, and when another motion was made to postpone consideration, it was quickly adopted and the resolution was voted for the first order of business tomorrow morning.

President's Address.

The second address of the president was one of the features of the day's proceedings. Mrs. Catt reviewing the suffrage amendment in many states for years back. She declared that the federal amendment should be the ultimate aim of the association, and that the work in the state should be a program of preparedness to win national suffrage.

Many delegates told of the difficulties of getting proposed constitutional amendments through the legislatures.

Miss Gulford Dandie of Tennessee, in favoring a federal amendment, said that one of the objections heard to it was that it infringed on state rights.

She pointed out that many statesmen who opposed a federal suffrage amendment, as an invasion of state rights, favored the amendment independently.

"A—The United States might act independently."

Dr. Jordan said he was not at liberty to bring out the details of the plan, as they would be handled by President Wilson himself.

No Action at Present.

"In my judgment, without relation to the conferences with President Wilson," said Dr. Jordan, "the president can do nothing before the coming election, as it would be unwise to undertake a peace movement that would be attacked politically at home."

It is probable that the president and congress will join in a peace movement which will not come, however, for two or three months, as the entrance of Greece and Romania into the war has given hope of victory to the allies.

In Jordan said he looked for peace within six months. The movement for peace, said, must come from the United States. The Ford peace conference he said, was growing in importance.

"An honorable peace," he asserted, "is one which means the territorial integrity of Belgium and France."

Dixie Evening.

The evening session of the convention was given over to listening to speeches by southern women. It was called "Dixie" evening.

Those who were on the program as speakers were Mrs. H. J. Cunningham, president of the Texas Woman Suffrage association, Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Smith, president of the Kentucky Equal Rights association, Mrs. Gifford Dudley, president of the Tennessee Equal Rights association, Mrs. T. G. Cottam, president of the Arkansas Woman Suffrage association.

President Wilson, who will address the delegates tomorrow night, will have a guard of honor of yellow beribboned delegates as he enters the Board Walk theater, where he will speak. Every state in the union will be represented in the guard, which will form in two lines and salute the president as he passes between the lines.

At 1:07 o'clock the senate recessed until 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. The concurrent resolution for adjournment at 10 o'clock tomorrow was left on the table for action when the senate resumes.

Report Adopted.

The senate at 12:55 tonight adopted the conference report of the revenue bill, without a record vote, clearing the way for adjournment of congress at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Following disposition of the bill, Senator Hughes of New Jersey protested the anger of Senator Penrose and other republican leaders, who threatened to demand the presence of a quorum by insisting in reading a speech of the late President McKinley favoring the eight-hour day. Senator Hughes declared the McKinley attitude was in strange contrast to that of Mr. Hughes' republican presidential candidate.
